DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 3-4 and 6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
2. Claims 9-11 is allowed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action: The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-2,5 and 7-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Grawey (5,148,077) in view of Berlincourt (4051396)
Grawey discloses in fig.1 and 2 a piezoelectric actuator injector comprising: a metal case (104) provide on the outside of the side surface of the piezoelectric device (102), an insulating member (224) place between the piezoelectric device and the case.
Wherein, the insulating member is made of a piece separated from the piezoelectric device and the insulating member is adhered to the inner wall of the case. Grawey also discloses a space substantially formed between the piezoelectric device and the insulating device (fig.2 B) Grawey do not show the insulating member made of resin. Berlincourt disclose a piezoelectric device in fig.4 comprising: insulation (58) made of resin encapsulating the piezoelectric element (51) for the purpose of preventing dielectric breakdown across the piezoelectric means. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the arts the time the invention was made to modify the piezoelectric device of Grawey with the insulating resin of Berlincourt for the purpose of preventing internal leakage.

Referring to claim 1, the recitation that " a laminated piezoelectric device having alternately layered piezoelectric layers and electrode layers" bhas not been give patentable weight because it has been held that a preamble is denied the effect of a limitation where the claim is drawn to a structure and the portion following the preamble is self- contained description of the structure not depending for completeness upon the introductory clause. Kropa v. Robie, 88 USPQ 478(CCPA 1951).

Referring to claim 7, It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to select the insulating member thickness to be no more than 0.3mm, since it has been held that where general condition of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 4/15/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to the applicant's argument that Grawey fails to teach or suggest a space substantially formed between the piezoelectric device and the insulating member.

However, fig. 2 clearly shows a space (B) between the insulator and the piezoelectric device.

5. In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992).

Conclusion

6 THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
